

GoMacro Receives Whole Foods 2020 Environmental Stewardship Award

Suppliers honored for innovation, environmental stewardship, commitment to regenerative agriculture and more.

Whole Foods Market has paid tribute to 42 local, regional and national suppliers this month as part of the grocer's ninth annual Supplier Awards. Spanning all product categories, winners were selected by Whole Foods leaders, category experts and buyers.

“It is Whole Foods Market’s honor to celebrate our suppliers who have demonstrated fantastic cooperation, resilience, creativity and commitment to quality, rising to excellence in a year unlike any other,” noted Gafsi Oblisk, Whole Foods’ chief marketing and communications officer. “This year, we are proud to add the Regenerative Agriculture Commitment award to congratulate suppliers that are making strides to improve farming practices.”

The awards and recipients for 2020 are as follows:

Environmental Stewardship, awarded to suppliers that have established environmentally conscious business methods and models, such as reducing carbon footprint and incorporating eco-friendly packaging.

Global winner: GoMacro